INTRODUCTION

I am a dedicated, self-motivated college student attending James Madison University in Harrisonburg, VA. I am a junior working towards my Bachelor's in Computer Science. I have completed two years of classes and am currently taking data structures, algorithms, and web development courses. Classes were taught in Java, Python, and JavaScript and focused on object-oriented programming. I am seeking an internship in computer science to expand my understanding and skills.

SKILLS

- Hard skills: Object-oriented programming, Java, Python, and some JavaScript.
- Soft skills: Team collaboration, time management, effective communication, positive work ethic, and problem-solving.
